ISSN: 2582-4686 SJIF 2021-3.261,SJIF 2022-2.889,
2024-6.875 ResearchBib IF: 9.948 / 2024

THE MULTIDISCIPLINARY JOURNAL OF SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

VOLUME-5, ISSUE-5

THE ROLE OF INTERCULTURAL COMPETENCE IN TEACHING FRENCH AS A FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Muzaffarova Nodira Mardonovna
(teacher of the Department of European Languages, TSPU named after Nizami; net44@list.ru)
Saparboyeva Zaxro Jamoladdinovna
(student of TSPU named ater Nizami,
Foreign languages faculty saparboyevazahro@gmail.com)

Annotation: In the contemporary era of globalization, the pursuit of linguistic proficiency transcends the conventional boundaries of vocabulary and grammatical mastery. The process entails comprehending the cultural contexts that influence the language and its utilization. In the context of teaching French as a foreign language (FLE), intercultural competence assumes a pivotal role in fostering effective communication, cultivating tolerance, and deepening learners' appreciation of the Francophone world.

Keywords: intercultural competence, French language education, language and culture, teaching strategies, global citizenship

РОЛЬ МЕЖКУЛЬТУРНОЙ КОМПЕТЕНЦИИ В ПРЕПОДАВАНИИ ФРАНЦУЗСКОГО ЯЗЫКА КАК ИНОСТРАННОГО

Музаффарова Нодира Мардоновна (преподаватель кафедры европейских языков ТГПУ имени Низами; net44@list.ru)
Сапарбоева Захро Жамоладдиновна (Студент факультета иностранных языков ТГПУ имени Низами saparboyevazahro@gmail.com)

Аннотация: В современную эпоху глобализации стремление к языковой грамотности выходит за пределы обычного овладения словарным запасом и грамматикой. Этот процесс включает в себя понимание культурных контекстов, влияющих на язык и его использование. В контексте преподавания французского языка как иностранного (ФЛИ) межкультурная компетенция играет ключевую роль в обеспечении эффективной коммуникации, формировании терпимости и углублении интереса учащихся к франкоязычному миру.

Ключевые слова: межкультурная компетентность, обучение французскому языку, язык и культура, стратегии преподавания, глобальное гражданство

CHET TILI SIFATIDA FRANSUZ TILINI O‘RGATISHDA MADANIYATLARARO KOMPETENSIYANING O’RNI

Muzaffarova Nodira Mardonovna (Nizomiy nomidagi TDPU Yevropa tillari kafedrasi o’qituvchisi; net44@list.ru)
Saparboyeva Zaxro Jamoladdinovna (Nizomiy nomidagi TDPU Xorijiy tillar fakulteti talabasi saparboyevazahro@gmail.com)

Annotatsiya: Zamonaviy globallashuv davrida til bilishga intilish an’anaviy lug‘at va grammatika doirasidan chiqib ketmoqda. Bu jarayon endilikda til va uning qo‘llanilishiga ta’sir etuvchi madaniy kontekstlarni anglashni ham o‘z ichiga oladi. Chet tili sifatida fransuz tilini o‘rgatish (FLE) jarayonida madaniyatlararo kompetensiya samarali muloqotni shakllantirish, bag‘rikenglikni rivojlantirish va o‘quvchilarning frankofon dunyoga bo‘lgan qiziqishini chuqurlashtirishda muhim rol o‘ynaydi.

ISSN: 2582-4686 SJIF 2021-3.261,SJIF 2022-2.889,
2024-6.875 ResearchBib IF: 9.948 / 2024

Kalit so‘zlar: madaniyatlararo kompetensiya, fransuz tili ta’limi, til va madaniyat, o‘qitish strategiyalari, global fuqarolik
Keywords: intercultural competence, French language education, language and culture, teaching strategies, global citizenship

INTRODUCTION

In today’s interconnected world, learning a foreign language involves more than grammar drills and vocabulary memorization. It requires cultural understanding and the ability to interact respectfully across borders. This is where intercultural competence—the skill of navigating and communicating across cultures—becomes essential. For learners of French, a language spoken across multiple continents and cultures, this competence is not optional—it is foundational.

Language and Culture: Two sides of the same coin

Language and culture are deeply intertwined. Cultural values shape language use, from polite forms of address to idiomatic expressions and body language. For example, in French, the use of “tu” vs. “vous” reflects degrees of formality and social hierarchy. A student who understands these cultural cues can speak more naturally and avoid social missteps.

Why intercultural competence matters

1. Enhancing communication

Intercultural competence allows learners to interpret cultural signals correctly, reducing the risk of misunderstandings. This skill becomes especially important when communicating with native speakers from different regions of the Francophone world.

2. Boosting motivation and engagement

Cultural content—such as French cinema, fashion, music, cuisine, and traditions—adds richness and relevance to lessons. Students are more motivated when they see the real-world value of what they’re learning.

3. Promoting personal growth and empathy

Exposure to different cultures helps students develop respect, empathy, and open-mindedness. These values are essential for becoming responsible global citizens.

4. Preparing for a globalized world

French is spoken in more than 29 countries. Understanding its varied cultural contexts prepares students for travel, study, and work in diverse environments.

Effective teaching strategies and use authentic materials

Incorporate real-world resources like French songs, short films, blog posts, interviews, and news broadcasts. This exposes students to natural language and cultural practices.

Create cultural comparisons

Encourage students to compare aspects of their own culture with French-speaking cultures. This can include family life, holiday traditions, or communication styles.

Use role-plays and simulations

Scenarios like ordering in a French café, attending a wedding, or hosting a guest from France provide opportunities to practice cultural etiquette.

Invite Interaction with Native speakers

Arrange video calls, pen-pal exchanges, or guest speaker sessions with Francophones to allow authentic intercultural communication.

ISSN: 2582-4686 SJIF 2021-3.261,SJIF 2022-2.889,
2024-6.875 ResearchBib IF: 9.948 / 2024

THE MULTIDISCIPLINARY JOURNAL OF SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

VOLUME-5, ISSUE-5

Discuss cultural stereotypes

Guide students to critically examine and challenge cultural stereotypes, promoting a deeper, more respectful understanding of differences.

Challenges in teaching intercultural competence

Teacher training: Not all teachers are equipped with the tools to teach culture effectively. Ongoing professional development is key.

Material Sensitivity: Content must be carefully selected to represent cultures accurately and avoid overgeneralization.

Student readiness: Learners come with their own cultural frameworks, and sensitivity is needed when introducing contrasting perspectives.

Conclusion

Teaching French as a foreign language without cultural context is like teaching music without rhythm. Intercultural competence enriches the language-learning experience by making it relevant, engaging, and meaningful. It not only improves communication but also fosters empathy and global awareness. As educators, integrating cultural learning into French instruction equips students with the tools to thrive in a multicultural world.

Used references

1. Berardo, K. and Deardorff, D.K. Building Cultural Competence: Innovative Intercultural Training Activities and Models (Stylus). 2012. P. 361

2. Blanchet P. L'approche Interculturelle en didctique du FLE. Université Rennes 2. Haute Bretagne. 2005. p. 183

3. Saparboyeva Z. Relations between pedagogics and psychology. International journal of European research output. In vol.3 №.12 december 2024

4. Muzaffarova Nodira Mardonovna (teacher of the Department of European Languages, TSPU named after Nizami; net44@list.ru)