PROMOTION OF WORK IN ENTERPRISES AND ORGANIZATIONS

Toshov Mirzabek Hakimovich – Asia international university

Abstract: The role of wages in motivating employees is very important.

Adam Smith, one of the founders of economics, argued in his famous work The Wealth of Nations that wages depend on the laws of supply and demand in the labor market [1]. He believed that wages are determined by the difficulty and necessity of the work, and these factors encourage employees to learn new skills and develop themselves.

The motivational effect of wages is of great importance in terms of increasing the labor efficiency of employees in an enterprise, creating fair and competitive conditions for them, and strengthening their loyalty to the enterprise.

Keywords : Incentives , wages , employees , motivational , efficiency , Rewarding .

Salary of employees to the enterprise loyalty in progress The role of the salary of employees to the enterprise loyalty in progress role very important . Employees their own labors for fair compensation when they get it , they in the enterprise to stay and to him/her loyal to stay more inclined This is due to the low turnover of the enterprise . to the level and high level employees save stay to the ability take it comes , this and of the enterprise general stability and far term to develop positive impact shows . In this regard , like Herbert Simon scientists of employees to the enterprise loyalty in increasing work right role record They stated that the work right only financial from encouragement consists of not , maybe of employees in the enterprise growth and development also affects the opportunities does (Table 1).

Conclusion

The main principles of organizing labor activities in an enterprise and their impact on the efficiency of the enterprise are analyzed. The essence of labor organization is defined as a systematic approach aimed at optimizing work processes within the enterprise and improving the skills of employees. Labor organization helps to increase the motivation of employees in achieving the goals of the enterprise and ensure their professional development.

In the next stages, the importance of the wage system in influencing employee motivation and loyalty is examined. A fair and competitive wage system is recognized as the main tool for motivating employees. Wages are an important factor in increasing employee productivity and also help to strengthen their loyalty to the enterprise.
